Federation Organization of the Disabled People in Swaziland (FODSWA)

Background

The Federation Organization of the Disabled People in Swaziland (FODSWA) is an organization run and managed by persons with disabilities themselves in Eswatini (formerly known as Swaziland). FODSWA is a gender-sensitive organization; it therefore promotes gender sensitivity amongst its members.

FODSWA was formed in 1993 by disabled people's organizations. The main purpose of the formation of the Federation was to build effective and efficient leadership amongst its affiliates and to act as a link between government and disabled people's organizations.

Vision Statement

“Equal rights and opportunities for all”.

Mission Statement

To effectively and efficiently coordinate activities of Members through empowerment of DPOs to be strong advocates that are able to provide direction on disability issues in mainstream society and government for the attainment of equal rights and opportunities for all people with disabilities in Swaziland.

Guiding Principles

FODSWA's guiding principles are:

- 1) Accountability to affiliate organizations.
- 2) To see to it that disability policies are in place and implemented.
- 3) To see to it that all affiliated organizations are able to draw proper plans of actions and implementation plans.

Membership

- 1) Swaziland National Association of the Physically Disabled Persons (SNAPDPe)
- 2) Swaziland National Association of the Deaf (SNAD)

- 3) Association of the Visually Impaired Persons (SAVIP)
- 4) Parents of Children with Disabilities in Swaziland (PCDSwa)

What We Do

- 1) In order to address some of the challenges outlined above, FODSWA seeks to undertake practical projects and ventures of support to disabled people's organizations with a view of promoting all measures of equal opportunities and full participation for disabled person's organizations.
- 2) The federation also lobbies Government to implement existing pieces of national legislation and policies affecting Persons with Disabilities.
- 3) FODSWA also strived to promote gender sensitivity amongst affiliates. For example, the organization drew up a five-year plan on the development of women with disabilities in Swaziland, a program which was born from a research study on the discrimination of people with disabilities in Swaziland conducted by FODSWA in October 2001. It came out as one of the findings of the research that women with disabilities are the most discriminated against and the least privileged in the country.

Lesotho National Federation of Organization of the Disabled (LNFOD)

Background

Established in 1989, the Lesotho National Federation of Organisations of the Disabled (LNFOD) is an umbrella body of organisations dealing with disability in Lesotho. We believe in a human rights-based approach to disability and social inclusion.

We are of the view that the position of persons with disabilities and the discrimination against us are socially created. This has little to do with our impairments. Disability does not make a person with a disability or their family any less of a human being than any other member of society. People with disabilities can dream and achieve their own goals, and live their best life possible.

Through fear, ignorance and prejudice, barriers and discriminatory practices have developed which disable us. By understanding and working towards deconstructing these attitudinal barriers, we are able to break down the process of disablement. Through this process we can assist people with disabilities and their families to be empowered to access their human rights.

Membership

The membership of LNFOD consists of the following networks of Disabled people's Organizations (DPOs):

1. Lesotho National Association of Physically Disabled (LNAPD)
2. Intellectual Disability Association of Lesotho (IDAL)
3. Lesotho National League of the Visually Impaired Persons (LNLVIP), and
4. National Association of the Deaf in Lesotho (NADL)

Vision Statement

A Basotho society that is accessible and inclusive of all people that live in it, and that enables and empowers people with disabilities to enjoy their social, economic, political and human rights on equal basis with others, and to reach their full potential in all aspects of development.

Mission Statement

Its mission is to advocate for, promote, and defend the rights of people with disabilities and their families through provision of training, material and emotional support, and by representing their needs to government, development partners and the wider community.

Our focus areas

a) Community Based Rehabilitation

The Community Based Rehabilitation Program was initiated in 2005 in cooperation with the rehabilitation unit of the Ministry of Health and Social Welfare and LNFOD's four partner organisations. The program focuses on empowering people with disabilities to live independently within their community through training and support networks. Among other things, it seeks to make the education system accessible to disabled children, improve the competence of health services in dealing with disability, and promote inclusion in the social and labour sectors. Emphasis is placed on ensuring that the program builds on the local structures, public and civil, that are being used to implement general development activities at district level. So far, the CBR program has introduced hundreds of individuals in Mafateng and Leribe districts to self-representation and advocacy training, basic life skills e.g. use of assistive devices and income generating projects.

b) HIV/AIDS Prevention

Lesotho has the third highest rate of HIV prevalence in the world with nearly one quarter of the adult population infected with the with the H1 virus. It is estimated that rates are higher still amongst the disabled population due to factors of poverty and lack of education and resources. LNFOD's HIV/AIDS program began in 2008 and is implemented by LNFOD through its partner organization network. Its key objective is to lessen the spread of HIV amongst people with disability in Lesotho through education and awareness initiatives. Some of the activities covered in the HIV/AIDS program include translation of HIV/AIDS informational materials in to formats accessible to those with disability, condom usage workshops and trainings on risky behaviour and awareness of sexual abuse/exploitation.

c) Organisational Capacity Building

LNFODs goal is to unify disability groups fighting for social change. Its mission is to support DPOs and empower their members with life-skills, financial and material resources and to represent their needs to the government, development partners and wider society. In addition, LNFOD provides financial and resource support for several centres for the disabled including boarding schools for children with disability and vocational training centres for adults.

SAFOD PROJECTS

Expression of Heritage & Culture Through Inclusive Arts & Craft Design

Sponsored by the Arts and Humanities Research Council in the UK, the Arts and Crafts Abilities is a shortened name for a project which is being implemented by the Southern Africa Federation of the Disabled (SAFOD), the Loughborough University and the Aston University.

The full name of the project is “Expression of heritage and culture through inclusive arts and crafts design: empowering people with disability to contribute to their community in South Africa”.

Officially launched on 1st November 2017, the objectives of this project are:

- 1) ENABLE discussion and dialogue about heritage and culture between local communities and disability support groups in Southern Africa and their UK counterparts;
- 2) SUPPORT the persons with disabilities within local communities in Southern Africa to voice their needs and aspirations;

3) HIGHLIGHT and raise awareness of cultural identity, heritage and sense of place as an asset and resource for sustainable economic growth; and,

4) DEVELOP a pathway to social inclusion and sustainable economic development, based around inclusive arts and crafts.

Key outcomes

The outcomes of this Research Network will provide insights for persons with disability and their wider community members highlighting a pathway to sustainable economic development utilising their cultural and heritage as part of an inclusive approach to artefact production.

The project seeks to collaborate on knowledge exchange and gaining more insights into the needs of people with impairment and disability to enable them to contribute to their community through the production of art and craft artefacts. This first network phase was about building connections between those involved in inclusive crafts development within SAFOD and their counterparts in the UK in relation to best practice for inclusive crafts.

Networking

As part of this knowledge exchange initiative, in July 2018, members of SAFOD visited the Loughborough University met with the various stakeholders during their one-week stay in London.

On 3 July 2018, they visited Workshop 305 in Wimbledon, London. The visit to the inclusive arts and crafts workshop was the first activity in the week-long Network event involving delegates from the Southern Africa Federation of the Disabled, Loughborough University and Aston University. Workshop 305 Community Interest Company is a social enterprise in Wimbledon that works with people that have learning or physical disabilities. The well-equipped, spacious studios offer a stimulating variety of art and craft activity, a friendly and supportive environment and the space for a group of individuals to share a sense of community, purpose and achievement. The workshop enabled delegates from SAFOD to see the work of other artists and craftspeople, discuss their approach to arts and crafts, as well as provide a demonstration of their own heritage skills.

And on 5th July 2018, they participated in a webinar presenting opportunities for collaboration and exchange of culture, experience, knowledge and practice with speakers. The three sets of speakers provided an outline of best practice in the UK and the challenges of being a crafts person with a disability in Southern Africa. For more information about the webinar, visit this link: <http://www.craftsabilities.org/uncategorized/crafts-abilities-network-webinar-thursday-5th-july-2018-1000-1130-bst-uk/>

The Global Disability Innovation Hub will assist in the dissemination of knowledge about the culture and heritage of communities in Southern Africa and begin a dialogue with disability groups and crafts people in the UK and Southern Africa about pathways to enable inclusive crafts to flourish in Southern Africa communities.

Cultural heritage and tourism

Furthermore, this project also seeks to raise awareness within the communities of Southern Africa of the value of their cultural heritage and provide insights into how these may be expressed through inclusive crafts, leading to sustainable economic development.

Tourism supports one in every 12 jobs in South Africa. It has been recognised that diversification is required in the tourist industry. The rich and varied culture of the Southern African region has been identified as a social resource that is both sustainable and brings a different experience to the tourists visiting the Region. Researchers, commentators and Government offices from Botswana, Zimbabwe and South Africa have all expressed similar aspirations for the development of cultural and heritage tourism.

However, many countries in Southern Africa are still supported by overseas economic aid to offset need in the poorest communities. Within these poorest of communities, those living with a physical or cognitive impairment are often the most vulnerable.

They will lay the foundations of a bridge between communities and people with disability within those communities; and, enable dialogue and exchange of knowledge, through culture and heritage, expressed as artefacts. Initially, this exchange will be between five Countries in Southern Africa and the UK.

Assistive Technology Information Mapping Project (AT-Info-Map)

Funded for an initial 3-year period by the Google Impact Challenge as one of the 'big ideas that uses technology to expand opportunity and independence for people with disabilities, the Assistive Technology Information Mapping project (AT-Info-Map) started in March 2016 primarily with the development of a mobile app to map the availability of Assistive Technology (AT) in 10 countries in Southern Africa.

The project has now grown rapidly to include an AT web database, a regional AT Exhibition (June 2020), and a series of national AT awareness seminars, among other AT initiatives. The AT-Info-Map project has now partnered with the Loughborough University through its Crafts Abilities project to develop and publish an AT directory, now allowing users to access the listing of AT products and disability services through the mobile app, web database and printed publication (directory).

Identifying WHAT types of AT are available and WHERE those products are located will serve three purposes:

- 1) CONNECTING persons with disabilities to the available AT near their community.
- 2) SUPPORTING key actors in identifying AT needs. Key actors include public AT providers (clinics, community health centers, secondary and tertiary hospitals, schools), civil society, government, non-governmental organizations (NGOs), disabled people organizations (DPOs) and businesses.
- 3) INFORMING AT suppliers, manufacturers, and designers of unmet public demand.

Who is behind the project?

Officially launched in April 2016, the AT-Info-Map project is being championed by four lead partners namely, the Southern Africa Federation of the Disabled (SAFOD) in partnership with African Network for Evidence-to-Action in Disability (AfriNEAD), and the University of Washington.

Within each of the 10 SAFOD countries, national DPOs, government officials, AT providers, and local organizations that serve persons with disabilities are invited to participate in implementation.

What do we mean by assistive technology?

Assistive technology (AT) includes a wide range of technology products (often called devices or aids) that are used to improve mobility, hearing, vision, communication, and learning. The definition used in the World Disability Report is, “Any item, piece of equipment or product system, whether acquired commercially, off-the-shelf, modified or customized, that is used to increase, maintain, or improve functional capabilities of individuals with disabilities”

(United States Congress, 2004).

Examples of AT products include devices designed to improve functioning, enhance independence, improve quality of life, and restore human dignity for people with disabilities including:

- 1) Daily living and self-care – adaptive aids and utensils for a variety of functions (cooking, gardening, working, etc.),
- 2) Mobility – prosthetics, wheelchairs, crutches,
- 3) Hearing – hearing aids, speech-text software,
- 4) Vision – eye glasses, screen readers,
- 5) Communication – voice amplifiers, communication cards,
- 6) Learning – memory aids, reading software.
- 7) AT is provided through a wide variety of public and private organizations and institutions within the health, education or employment sectors.

What has the project achieved so far?

Through the AT-Info-Map project, we have learned a tremendous amount about AT and what the AT needs are within our region. We have also been fortunate to connect with many local AT experts who are committed to meeting these needs. From large well-established AT companies in South Africa that provide a range of low to high tech communication devices to buyers throughout Africa, to a small prosthetic workshop in Zimbabwe where a highly trained prosthetist reuses materials to fabricate and repair artificial limbs.

The strong clinical and technical expertise in our region has potential to advance AT but we are lacking the political will to prioritize AT and develop the systems needed to facilitate supply and access. Political will may be building as we recently secured commitment from the deputy minister in Namibia, Hon. Mrs. Alexia Ncube, to host and support next major activity, the Southern Africa AT Expo, which was earlier schedule to take place in June 2020 but was postponed to 2021 due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Other achievements include:

1) The information system we developed can be accessed through an App or website, and currently contains 1000 AT suppliers and over 1000 disability service organizations from ten countries.

a) This system is freely accessible by anyone seeking to find AT including those purchasing AT from the public, private or NGO sectors; as well as an individual AT user, when feasible.

b) We expanded beyond AT suppliers to include a disability service organization when we realized that many people learn about and access AT through a wide range of local organizations - from vocational training programs to special schools.

c) Identifying and mapping both the AT suppliers and disability services also helps identify where the gaps are both in terms of types of AT available and geographical coverage.

2) As we developed the information system it became evident that increasing general AT awareness was critical to the overall project success so we began developing resources and providing training to a range of stakeholders in each country.

a) The project website was developed to include AT research, educational materials, and policies.

b) We also developed a comprehensive 56-page AT Guide that includes descriptions and images of a broad range of AT products.

c) Our trainings and webinars have reached over 200 stakeholders and a few countries have begun developing advocacy strategies to address policy barriers such as tariffs.

3) Finally, we have evaluated our work and published papers summarizing the AT-Info-Map experience.

Youth Capacity Building Project: Training Workshops in Online Media & Disability Mainstreaming

With funding from Norwegian Federation of Organisations of Disabled People (FFO), this project is seeking to build the capacity of youths with disabilities within the national affiliates of the Southern Africa Federation of the Disabled (SAFOD) to be able to effectively advocate for disability mainstreaming in their countries using social media, blogging, website and other media tools.

the “The Organisational Development in Southern Africa Project” funded by Norwegian Federation of Organisations of Disabled People (FFO) guided by a three-year partnership agreement. The agreement is part of the FFO’s Theory of Change, to contribute to organisation development and Human Rights training that empowers its partner organizations FFO’s partner organizations, such as SAFOD, contribute to change in attitude towards persons with disabilities in society in general, in governments and other spheres.

On the other hand, this project supports one of the SAFOD's eight core programmes dubbed "Southern Africa Capacity and Institutional Building Strategy (SA-CIBIS)" as reflected in its five-year Strategic Plan document (2016-2020). Under this program, SAFOD seeks to build the institutional operational capacities of its national affiliates in all the ten countries where it operates to ensure effective and sustainable national federations of DPOs. These DPOs should be able to significantly and sustainably promote and secure implementation of policies and legislation that promote human rights for persons with disabilities.

In addition, the project also supports the SAFOD's "Southern Africa Development Program for Children and Youth with Disabilities (SA-DCYD)" programme. Both FFO and SAFOD further recognize that the lack of youth involvement in the disability movement in Southern Africa is evident and a substantial challenge. This was also identified as a serious sustainability factor in the 2013 SAFOD Evaluation.

Under the Results Framework (2016-2019) of the FFO/SAFOD Agreement, one of the three key targets for 2019 is that Youths in SAFOD affiliates lobby within SAFOD countries for the human rights of young people with disabilities. And the Results Framework identifies communication and advocacy as one of the key areas in which the youths with disabilities require significant capacity building, hence one of the output indicators include "number of SAFOD youths that have been trained on communication and advocacy skills."

Aim of the Training Workshops:

The training programme aims at imparting skills in using WordPress website, Blog and other social media to advance the disability mainstreaming agenda in countries where SAFOD works.

The facilitators from THISABILITY Newspaper (<http://www.thisability.co.za/>) have been training targeted youths with disabilities on integrating issues/stories on inclusive education, inclusive sexual and reproductive health issues, etc., into the whole mainstreaming agenda using the aforementioned online tools.

Specific Objectives of the Training workshops:

- 1) To familiarize the participants with the WordPress platform.
- 2) To impart basic skills in managing a WordPress site
- 3) To orient participants on the basic concepts of disability mainstreaming
- 4) To orient selected youths with disabilities on integrating different aspects of disability rights into the disability mainstreaming agenda.
- 5) To train the selected youths with disabilities on basic writing and journalism tools with a focus on blogging and social media.

The Youths We Target:

The workshops target six participants per country, including a representative(s) of the affiliates' Secretariat. The nominees are the youths with disabilities from the targeted affiliates, preferably in the cities/towns where the workshops take place and their surrounding outskirts

The rationale is that the targeted participants are directly involved with updating the website of each of the federations and other online media.

SAFOD's strategy is to have the participants based in the cities/towns where the workshops normally take place and surrounding outskirts for ease of coordination between the trained youths and the Secretariat of SAFOD affiliate in each of the countries – since the trained participants would be going to affiliates' offices and use their office internet for purposes of updating the website/blog. And the figure of six is on the basis that if we involve all affiliates' youths that would not be strategic as everyone should not be allowed to have user access to the website and Blog.

Achievements so far

The selected youths with disabilities in the targeted countries have been empowered with skills on incorporating different aspects of disability rights within the broader realm of disability mainstreaming.

Through this program, we have also been able to build websites for most of our affiliates besides training the youths (often around 6 youths with disabilities, including the Secretariat) in disability mainstreaming concepts and how to use online media to promote disability work of the affiliate. Both the training and setting up of the websites are done by ThisAbility Newspaper in South Africa.

So far, we have trained and set up websites for the following eight out of the ten national affiliates:

1) The Botswana Federation of the disabled (BOFOD) in Botswana - <https://www.bofod.org>

2) National Federation of People with Disabilities in Namibia (NFPDN) - <https://www.nfpdn.org>

3) Fórum das Associações Moçambicanas dos Deficientes (FAMOD) in Mozambique - <https://www.famod.org>

4) Federation of Organisations of Disabled People in Swaziland (FODSWA) - <https://www.fodswa.org>

5) Federation of Organisations of Disabled People in Angola (FAPED) - <https://www.faped.org>

6) Federation of Disability Organisations in Malawi (FEDOMA) - <https://www.fedoma.org>

7) Zambia Federation of Disability Organisations (ZAFOD) - <https://www.zafod.net>

8) Federation of Organisations of Disabled People in Zimbabwe (FODPZ) - <https://www.fodpz.org/>

At the time we were launching this project, and throughout the past three years we have been implementing this project, the remaining two affiliates in Lesotho and South Africa were already having and managing their own websites. Eight affiliates did not have websites. That means all current SAFOD websites can boast of having institutional websites.

Capacity Building in UNCRPD Monitoring & Reporting Project

With funding from Norwegian Federation of Organisations of Disabled People (FFO) in Norway, SAFOD carries out country-level training workshops on Monitoring Mechanism of the United Nations Convention of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD) for its national affiliates and key stakeholders in each country.

Workshops and follow-up meetings on UNCRPD Monitoring and Reporting have been held in Namibia, Malawi, Mozambique, and Zimbabwe. These events aim at achieving the specific deliverables outlined in the four-year Results Framework agreed between FFO and SAFOD in 2016.

The workshops target not more than 30 participants including members of the SAFOD's national affiliates, Government representatives, Legal Reform Commissions; National Human Rights Commissions, Civil Society Organizations (besides DPOs), Media, Trade Unions, etc

The workshops are a result of the regional workshop on UNCRPD monitoring and reporting that was held in South Africa in October 2017. During the regional workshop, participants reflected on the need to establish new national monitoring mechanisms in countries where such a mechanism do not exist; or strengthen the capacity of the national monitoring mechanisms in countries where they already exist, to enable effective monitoring and reporting of the UNCRPD implementation in that country. This was one of the key resolutions that emanated from the regional workshop, and SAFOD has hence been implementing the resolution starting with the afore-mentioned countries, hoping to expand to other countries in future based on the availability of funding.

The workshop in South Africa broadly focused on the following:

- (a) Imparting technical skills for monitoring of human rights violations;
- (b) Raising awareness among SAFOD's affiliates about the general situation of human rights for persons with disabilities, and reporting on the same based on the guidelines already established by the relevant UN Committee.

At national levels, the training workshops and follow-up meetings have largely focused on the following;

- (a) The specific terms of reference for the national monitoring mechanism in Malawi.
- (b) An understanding of each and everyone's roles and responsibilities within the national mechanisms.
- (c) Developing an output-based plan of action for the national monitoring mechanism with regards to monitoring and reporting.

While the technical skills were also touched upon only as a refresher, but the focus has been more about how to operationalize the UNCRPD National Reporting Mechanism.

Achievements So Far:

1) In Namibia, SAFOD met with key stakeholders and SAFOD was assured that all relevant ministries as well as CSOs were consulted in the monitoring and development processes of the UNCRPD report. The first draft of the UNCRPD report was done in 2014. One consultation meeting was held in Swakopmund in Erongo Region, while the other one was held in Oshakati in Oshana Region. The last consultation meeting was held in 2017, before submitting the draft report to Ministry of Justice who later referred it to the law Commission.

2) Some participants suggested the need for leveraging on the structures that already exist to enhance more meaningful consultations on the UNCRPD reporting between Government and other stakeholders. For example, stakeholders could utilize the "Strengthening Integrated Systems to Promote Access to Services for Persons with Disabilities in Namibia" project/platform, under the UN Partnership on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNPRPD) facility, where the UN Agencies interact with the Government, DPOs and other strategic stakeholders in advocating for the full and effective participation and inclusion of persons with disabilities in Namibia.

3) Through this UNPRPD platform, some workshops on the UNCRPD had been organized within the period 2018 to 2019 which should have been strategically linked to the whole process of monitoring and reporting of UNCRPD implementation. In addition, the project also focused on the following components: early identification of disability; strengthening disability data collection; and capacitation of Organizations of Persons with Disabilities (OPDs) – all these could have been strategically linked to the monitoring and reporting efforts of the UNRPD implementation.

4) In Mozambique, SAFOD met with key stakeholders who expressed optimism on submitting the UNCRPD State Party Report to the UN in 2020. It was reported during the meetings that the first version of the report was completed in 2013, but the cabinet did not approve it then. However, the Ministry of Gender and Social Welfare representative assured all participants that the reporting process for the State Party Report was well on course since the set back in 2013, as several consultation meetings with various stakeholders were held until the draft was completed, ready for submission in 2020.

5) In Malawi, SAFOD met with various key disability stakeholders who deliberated on the status of both the UNCRPD State-Party Report and the Shadow Report. SAFOD learned that work on developing the State Party Report was complete, but the report was awaiting submission early in 2020. The work involved several consultation meetings organized by the Disability Ministry.

6) It was also learned that in spite of a number of challenges, there were lots of positive developments in the country such as the formation and operationalization of the National Committee on Disability (NACOD) which had played significant role in ensuring the monitoring of the UNCRPD implementation in Malawi

7) Other international stakeholders, mainly the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), have also played a critical role as they made funding available for the monitoring and production of the State Party Report in which a consultant had been hired to steer the process. On their part, Civil Society Organizations (CSOs) also made their own contributions through the production of the Shadow Report which, it was learnt, helped to shape the State Party Report.

8) Finally, in Zimbabwe, SAFOD met with the stakeholders reported that a draft for the UNCRPD report, whose process started in 2015, was would be finalized and the process was being led by the Ministry of Justice. Stakeholders were positive that the final report would be ready and submitted to the UN in 2020.

9) Stakeholders acknowledged several positive developments that had taken place, including efforts to align several laws with both the country's Constitution and the international disability Convention.

10) Another positive development that was related to monitoring of the UNCRPD implementation was that the Zimbabwe Human Rights Commission (ZHRC) had a commissioner specifically responsible for disability. Even though the focus was not necessarily on UNCRPD monitoring, but the fact that the commission was able to monitor and document human rights issues and/or violations was a positive development on the basis that the same documented information could also be fed into the UNCRPD report. However, it was noted that most of the work related to disability monitoring by the ZHRC concentrated in only two provinces out of the ten, due to serious resource limitation.

Development and Advocacy of the Regional Inclusive ECDE Framework Project

With funding from Open Society Initiative for Southern Africa (OSISA), SAFOD has been implementing a project focusing on developing and lobbying for an inclusive Early Childhood Development Education (ECDE) Framework for Southern Africa Development Community (SADC) which was still unavailable as of December 2019. This project was conceptualized against the background that on 30 June 2016, SADC Ministers responsible for Education and Training and Science, Technology and Innovation adopted the five-year Southern Africa Inclusive Education Strategy for Learners with Disabilities (2016 - 2020), whose development process was also financed by OSISA. This strategy document outlined strategies on enhancing access to education, within an inclusive education system, for learners with disabilities. However, the strategy fell short of recognizing ECDE as a crucial component of sustainable investment into any national or regional inclusive education system. There was nowhere within the strategy where ECDE was mentioned, or even indirectly insinuated. In response, SAFOD, therefore, embarked on this project, in partnership with the Africa Early Childhood Network (AECN), to coordinate a number of activities which have included a series of workshops/meetings with key stakeholders in the ECDE sector at regional level, to develop the regional inclusive strategy framework and relevant accompanying documents.

The Overall Goal:

To provide adequate policy and legislative direction to States Parties and other stakeholders in the SADC Region that ensure the universal availability of, and equitable access to, inclusive early childhood development and education services in the SADC region for both children with and without disability aged 0-8 years old.

Specific Objectives:

Through the development of the new Regional Inclusive ECDE Strategy Framework, the project seeks to achieve the following specific objectives

1) To strengthen national integrated systems that support coherent inclusive ECDE policy frameworks in the SADC members states.

2) To establish the organisational and institutional arrangements necessary to lead, plan for, implement, coordinate and monitor the provision of national inclusive ECDE and support in the SADC region;

3) To ensure the provision of adequate public funding and infrastructure, and innovative financing, for sustainable universal availability of, and equitable access to, quality comprehensive ECDE services; and

4) To establish appropriate monitoring, quality assurance and improvement systems to secure the provision of quality and inclusive early childhood development services in the SADC region.

What We have Achieved So far:

1) In partnership with AfECN, SAFOD has so far organized a workshop to introduce the project to various relevant stakeholders and another one to seek their input into the draft strategy, respectively. The workshops brought different stakeholders from the region to brainstorm and provide input in the development of an ECDE Framework/Strategy that would guide SADC Member States on the implementation of inclusive education practices within early childhood programmes.

2) The workshops managed to bring together education experts, independent researchers, education activists, community ECDE implementers/facilitators, Government representatives from the education departments, and international financing institutions / development partners.

3) SAFOD also wound up 2019 with another stakeholders' validation workshop on the Development of an Inclusive ECDE Strategy for SADC, and another one on monitoring and evaluation framework, respectively. This second set of stakeholder workshops sought to review and validate key elements of the inclusive ECDE strategy; gather consensus on the priority objectives of the inclusive ECDE strategy; generate a Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) framework with clear indicators for the key objectives of the inclusive strategy; and strategize for resource mobilization and advocacy work before and after the adoption of the Inclusive ECDE Strategy by SADC.

4) The resource mobilize strategy was being led by the SAFOD advocacy committee that was put in place.

Orientation and navigation, personal mobility, standing lying and posture.

The Happy Strap has been designed as an aid for infants and children with hypotonia (low muscle tone) to assist the control of ligament laxity and joint flexibility in the hips. A degree of stability is given to the hips by the Happy Strap and this greatly assists in stabilising little bodies and helping them through their developmental milestones of sitting, crawling and walking.

AT-INFO-MAP APPLICATION

To download go to:

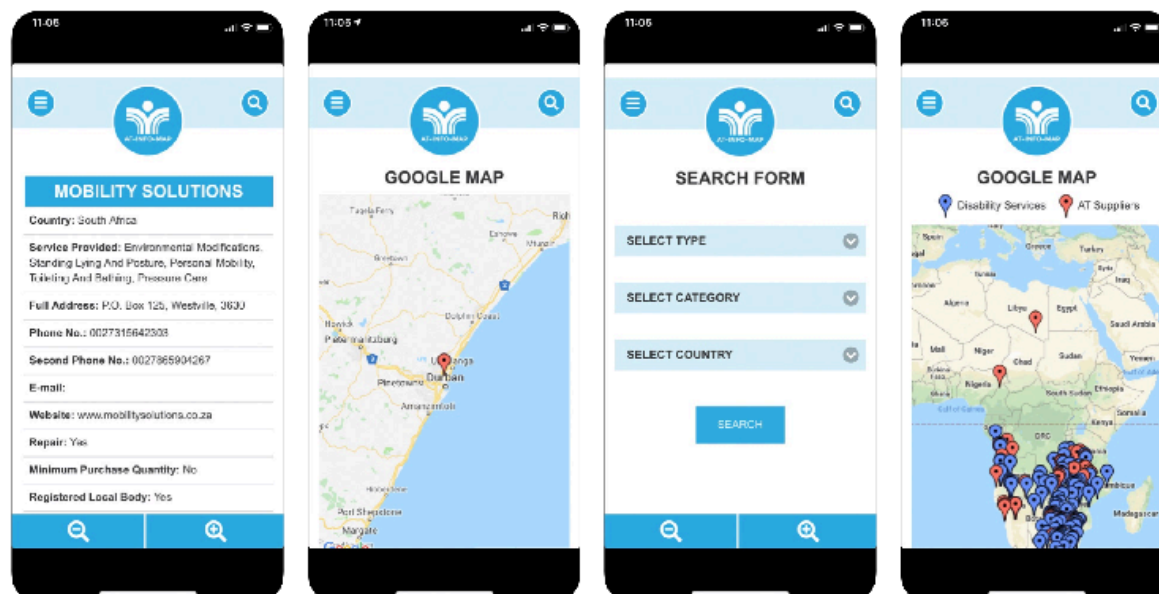

Apple App Store: apps.apple.com/mw/app/at-info-map/id1455004990

Google Play: play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=za.flyingant.AtInfoMap

A mobile technology system is being implemented by the Southern African Federation for the disabled (SAFOD), in partnership with the African Network for Evidence to Action in Disability (AfriNEAD), and the University of Washington, to collect and disseminate information on the availability of Assistive Technology (AT) within 10 countries in Southern Africa. The system is called AT-Info-Map App.

The AT-Info-Map was initially funded for three years (March 2016 to February 2019) by the Google Impact Challenge as one of the “big ideas that will use technology to expand opportunity and independence for people with disabilities”. Currently, this project works with local disability organizations to address gaps in AT availability. By using this mobile application, SAFOD is capturing and organizing information about AT suppliers and service providers in the region.

AT includes a wide range of technology products that are used to support persons with disabilities as they work, learn, play and live in their communities. Some examples of AT include crutches, wheelchairs, ramps, hearing aids, Braille printers, adaptive software, communication devices, just to mention a few.

Free Marketing Opportunity!

Ideal for companies that supply or sell Assistive Technology (AT) products to Government, Hospitals, and Persons with Disabilities

Who?

Are you a company that supplies/sells Assistive Technology (AT) products to Government, hospitals, persons with disabilities, and whoever may need them in Africa, particularly these countries: Angola, Botswana, Lesotho, Malawi, Mozambique, Namibia, South Africa, Swaziland, Zambia and Zimbabwe?

What?

The Southern Africa Federation of the Disabled (SAFOD), with initial funding (2016 - 2019) from the Google.org, is managing a mobile phone application that helps to market your AT products for free, not only within your country but also throughout the entire SADC region and beyond. Assistive Technology (AT) includes a wide range of technology products that are used to support persons with disabilities as they work, learn, play and live in their communities. Some examples include crutches, wheelchairs, ramps, hearing aids, adaptive software, just to mention a few.

How will you benefit?

We don't charge a penny for marketing your AT products because it is our duty as a disability advocacy organization to ensure that persons with disabilities have access to AT products. By helping you market your AT products to a wide range of stakeholders such as Government, private hospitals, NGOs, schools, your business will grow and more people will get the AT these need. This is a win-win undertaking. For more information about the project, you can visit the project website here: <https://www.atinfomap.org>

What do you need to do?

All that you're required to do is to visit this link <https://www.atinfomap.org/app.html> and follow the step-by-step procedure for downloading, installing, and entering information about your AT product(s) onto the mobile application called AT-Info-Map on your Android or iOS phone. Alternatively, the AT-Info-Map team will be happy to help you by entering your AT list into the app on your behalf, at no cost.

You can, therefore, share us your number by sending an email, phoning, or simply inboxing us on our Facebook page.

<https://www.facebook.com/atinfomap>

Our App admin at the SAFOD Secretariat in Botswana will get in touch with you and arrange for a virtual interview to collect the required information, or to guide you through the process of inputting your data in the app, or to provide with any other technical support you may need.

ASSISTIVE TECHNOLOGY BUSINESS INNOVATIONS

28 - 29

September 2021

More Information:

<http://webinar.saate.org>

The Southern Africa Federation of the Disabled (SAFOD) and the University of Loughborough are holding a series of assistive technology (AT) webinars between September 2021 and September 2022. The rationale for these webinars is to build the momentum towards the Southern Africa Assistive Technology Expo (SAATE), which will be held in September 2022, while beginning to tackle some of the objectives of the SAATE itself. The SAATE (www.saate.org/) is a spin-off outcome of the Assistive Technology Mapping (AT-Info-Map) project that SAFOD has been implementing since 2016, in partnership with the University of Washington and the African Network for Evidence-to-Action in Disability (AfriNEAD). The first webinar took place from 28 to 29 September 2021.

Project Aim

This project seeks to collaborate on knowledge exchange and gaining more insights into the needs of people with impairments and disability to enable them to contribute to their community through the production of art and craft artefacts. This first network phase will be about building connections between those involved in inclusive crafts development within SAFOD and their counterparts in the UK in relation to best practice for inclusive crafts.

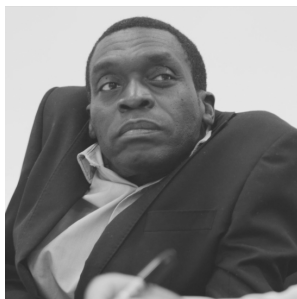

Overview of Approach

INNOVATE The Global Disability Innovation Hub The Global Disability Innovation Hub will assist in the dissemination of knowledge about the culture and heritage of communities in Southern Africa (SA) and begin a dialogue with disability groups and crafts people in the UK and SA about pathways to enable inclusive crafts to flourish in SA communities.	CONCIETISE Awareness Raising The aim of this network proposal is to raise awareness within the communities of Southern Africa of the value of their cultural heritage and provide insights into how these may be expressed through inclusive crafts, leading to sustainable economic development.	COMMUNICATE Exchange Learning Opportunity This project will will facilitate communication between individual crafts people, disability support groups in Southern Africa Regions and the UK. The mixed methods approach will enable discussion and exchange of knowledge, skills, techniques, values and cultural perspectives around inclusive craft design and making.
MARKET The Niche that is Tourism! We seek to connect the artists with disabilities with tourists visiting the Region. Researchers, commentators and Government offices from Botswana, Zimbabwe and South Africa have all expressed similar aspirations for the development of cultural and heritage tourism.	INTEGRATE Pathways to impact The integration of individuals with disabilities into their communities through arts, craft and design will have a significant impact on their way of life. This will be achieved through reframing the value of individuals in generating income for their family and wider community; resulting in enhanced status.	RESEARCH Academic Beneficiaries There is value for researchers working in the wider field of anthropology, social sciences, arts, crafts and design to be able to review the mixed methods approach for eliciting needs and aspirations for these individuals and groups within the context of specific communities (urban/rural) in Southern Africa.
